The Side Door of the Church

By Tim Lyngdal, Coordinator of Mission

Most of us can think of someone – a family member, friend or coworker that we wish was more connected to a church community. Why? Because we love them. We know the life-changing power of Christ and the deep blessings that come from belonging to a supportive, faith-filled community. As the saying goes, “Tell me who your friends are, and I’ll tell you who you are.” Our relationships – or the lack of them – reveal much about our lives.

If that person is on your heart, maybe you’ve already invited them to Mass. How did it go? Often, the response is polite but noncommittal: “That sounds nice, thanks for thinking of me – maybe sometime.” And to be fair, attending Mass can feel like a big step, especially for someone who hasn’t been to church in a while, or ever. Pastor Rick Warren calls this kind of invitation “front-door evangelization.” It’s important and powerful, but it’s not the only way in. There’s also the “side door” of the church.

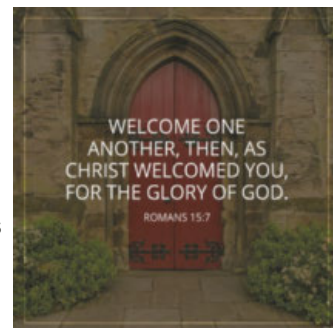

This “side door” often looks like community groups – what we call our Small Church Communities. These groups can be a gentle and welcoming entry point for those who feel unsure about attending Mass. Everyone has needs, even if they don’t always say it. Maybe your friend is grieving the loss of a loved one – we have small groups for that. Some gather to pray for the departed, while others simply offer space to grieve together.

Or maybe your friend is just looking to connect with others – especially other men or women walking through similar life experiences. We have men’s and women’s groups, groups with childcare and many others filled with ordinary people who recognize their need for community and support.

Jesus never sent out disciples alone. There are no “lone-wolf” Catholics. Our Gospel reminds us that this mission is a shared one – and it starts with something as simple as an invitation.

I remember the first time I finally invited someone to join a group. I was surprised when they responded, “Thank you, Tim! I’ve been waiting months for you to ask.”

So don’t underestimate your invitation. The mission field is right in front of you. Saint Paul, pray for us to be bold and unafraid as we invite others to encounter Christ – through the side door of the church.

Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament

Signing up for an Adoration hour each week is a great way to find peace in our busy lives. Adoration Chapel hours are Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m. You can stop in when our building is open or sign up for a regular Adoration hour at hnoj.weadorehim.com.

God wants to be close to us. The Eucharist is the miracle of this closeness in our lives. The goal of Adoration is to help us appreciate this miracle in a deeper way, so that we enter more deeply into the wonder of the Mass, and allow it to transform our lives.

Please contact Cheri Quast with any questions at cquast@hnoj.org.

Scripture of the Week

"Jesus said to him, 'Go and do likewise.'" (Luke 10:37)

Over the next two Sundays we will hear most of the tenth chapter of St. Luke's Gospel. Our Gospel Reading on July 6 tells of Jesus sending out 70 disciples in pairs to visit all the towns and villages He intended to visit. This "advance team" was to abide in the towns that would accept them and cure the sick and preach that the Kingdom of God is at hand. This mission trip went well for we are told that the 70 "returned rejoicing." Perhaps Jesus's sending of disciples in pairs was not just intended for those times. How can we carry out this same mission in our homes, our neighborhoods, our "up north" vacations, our workplaces, our families today?

On July 13 we hear the familiar story of the Good Samaritan. The passage begins with Jesus speaking to a scholar of the law and that scholar quoting Sacred Scripture - "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself." Jesus replies, "do this and you will live." The parable of the Good Samaritan then offers insight into who is our neighbor. At the end, Jesus asks the scholar which of the passersby was a neighbor to the victim and the scholar answered, "the one who treated him with mercy." Jesus's command to "Go and do likewise" lingers through the millennia since He spoke those words as a clarion call to us.
